Forecast for Tuesday 03 Aug 2021

Weather: Dry with clear spells overnight leading to a bright start, however cloud will bubble up during the course of the morning perhaps with some showers developing from late morning. Sunny spells with scattered showers persisting into the afternoon, these locally heavy with a risk of thunder. Any showers easing during the late afternoon leaving the day mostly dry with clear spells into the overnight period.

Chance of cloud free mountain/hill tops above 600m: 70% throughout

Visibility: Generally good, however risk of some cloud banks near summits, early in the morning. Developing showers may result in the sudden deterioration of visibilities from mid-morning.

Meteorologist's View

A dry and mostly bright day, risk of cloud banks near summits early in the morning reducing visibilities so good navigation skills will be required if heading out into the hills early in the day. With strong sunshine throughout the day sun protection will be needed, there is also a risk of catching the occasional shower during the afternoon, so wet weather gear is advised.

Forecast for Wednesday 04 Aug 2021

Weather: Cloud increasing from the west during the morning with outbreaks of showery rain reaching the park from mid-morning. Cloudy into the afternoon with further showers, these becoming locally heavy with a risk of thunder. The showery rain eases into the evening with skies breaking a little offering brighter spells to end the day.

Maximum wind: Southerly 15-20mpg, gusting 25mph

Chance of cloud free mountain/hill tops above 600m: 70% reducing to 50% during the afternoon

Visibility: Generally good but falling to moderate during any rain. Cloud bases mostly above summits during the morning, cloud bases reducing towards 400-500m from the west during the afternoon leading to poor visibilities near summits.

Temperature: Valleys: Plus 11 Celsius, rising to plus 17 Celsius.
At 600m: Plus 09 Celsius, rising to plus 14 Celsius.
Freezing level: Above the summits.
